Align

Director of Sport Psychology and Performance Enhancement
November 2011 - Present

Align is an innovative approach used to enhance careers of professional athletes and performing artists. Funding for an individual's professional career is accomplished in a unique manner. Specific information will be forthcoming when Align goes live this spring so until then you will have to wait. My position is to screen potential candidates to determine their mental stamina, character, performance under pressure, etc. and to recommend to the CEO, Bob Johnson, those who meet the criteria. If they are successful they will receive not only funding for their career development but performance enhancement counseling by me. Watch for us on the web between May and June, 2013!
